Dr. Ashish Gupta (PT) is a Professor at the K M Patel Institute of Physiotherapy, Bhaikaka University, Karamsad, serving since 2009. He completed his Bachelor of Physiotherapy (BPT) in 2005 and Master of Physiotherapy (MPT) in Cardio-Respiratory Disorders and Intensive Care in 2009 from Sardar Patel University. He is actively engaged in academic responsibilities as a teacher, facilitator, assessor, mentor, and University-recognized postgraduate guide. Since January 2026, he serves as the Undergraduate Academic In-charge, overseeing the planning, implementation, and monitoring of academic activities and examination processes within the undergraduate program. His role includes curriculum coordination, academic scheduling, quality assurance of teaching-learning processes, assessment planning, and ensuring compliance with institutional and university regulations.

He also functions as a UG class coordinator and contributes to institutional academic governance through active involvement in IQAC and NAAC-related activities, particularly in student support and co-curricular planning aimed at fostering leadership and professional development among students.

Dr. Gupta is committed to delivering value-driven services to students, patients, and all stakeholders, with a focus on quality enhancement and the promotion of value-oriented and impactful research.

He has a strong orientation toward community engagement and capacity building in physiotherapy practice at the grassroots level. He has completed a postgraduate program in Public Health and Hospital Management from Indian Institute of Public Health Gandhinagar in 2020. Additionally, he serves as the institutional coordinator for the National Service Scheme (NSS), facilitating structured community outreach and student participation in social responsibility initiatives.
